Maggie's Gentle Dream

A Tribute Song

Intro - piano, harp

Verse 1

I had dreamed of you for many years,
Through silent hopes and whispered tears.
Then one day you came, a fluffy grace,
And instant love filled every space.
My small, sweet friend, so light and bright,
A beacon in the fading night.
You nestled close, a gentle sigh,
Beneath a vast and endless sky.

Chorus

Oh, Maggie, my dear, my heart's sweet song,
For twelve treasured years, where you belonged.
Though you left too soon, a painful sting,
Your love's a comfort that you bring.

Verse 2

From the moment that I saw your face,
My troubled spirit found its peace.
Every day with you was life, so true,
In everything we'd say and do.
A tiny shadow, always near,
Chasing away every doubt and fear.
Your happy dance, your little bark,
A precious glow within the dark.

Chorus

Oh, Maggie, my dear, my heart's sweet song,
For twelve treasured years, where you belonged.

Though you left too soon, a painful sting,
Your love's a comfort that you bring.

Bridge

My little dream come true, you always are,
Shining for me like a distant star.
A whisper on the wind, a gentle plea,
You're always, always here with me.

Instrumental - strings, piano

Final Chorus

Oh, Maggie, my dear, my heart's sweet song,
For twelve treasured years, where you belonged.
Though you left too soon, a painful sting,
Your love's a comfort that you bring.

Outro

Five years have passed, I miss you still,
You're waiting patiently beyond the hill.
I think of you each and every day,
My sweet Maggie, softly far away.

Outro - piano fade
