Fiction, My Constant Star

A Tribute Song

Intro - piano, strings

Verse 1

A Wheaton, soft and golden, a spirit true and bright
You came into our lives, a beacon in the night
Our universe revolved 'round you, a love so deep and vast
A constant, loyal presence, a bond designed to last

Chorus

Oh, Fiction, my sweet boy, for twelve devoted years
You filled our home with laughter, you quieted our fears
A bond that knows no ending, a star that brightly gleams
Forever in our hearts, you live within our dreams

Verse 2

When shadows stretched long fingers, and day was almost done
From your high perch you'd journey, my sweet and furry one
To snuggle close beside me, a comfort soft and deep
A silent, knowing presence, secrets you would keep

Chorus

Oh, Fiction, my sweet boy, for twelve devoted years
You filled our home with laughter, you quieted our fears
A bond that knows no ending, a star that brightly gleams
Forever in our hearts, you live within our dreams

Bridge

Go home now, precious darling, your earthly work is through
Watch down upon us gently, we'll always think of you
We know that we are ready, our hearts will find their peace

Fiction, My Constant Star (continued)

At gates beyond the starlight, our reunion won't cease

Instrumental - strings, piano

Final Chorus

Oh, Fiction, my sweet boy, for twelve devoted years
You filled our home with laughter, you quieted our fears
A bond that knows no ending, a star that brightly gleams
Forever in our hearts, you live within our dreams

Now running free with Rosco, across the endless green
A joyous, happy spirit, a peaceful, vibrant scene
