Diesel's Endless Summer

A Tribute Song

Intro - acoustic guitar, banjo

Verse 1

The moment I walked through the door, your tail would wag with might,
A happy bark, a joyful roar, filling my world with light.
You lived for treats, and loving touch, a cuddle always near,
My Staffy boy, who gave so much, erasing every fear.

Chorus

Oh, Diesel, my sweet Diesel, sixteen wonderful years flew by,
You filled our lives with sunbeams, a twinkle in your eye.
Though tears may fall, we'll celebrate the joy you left behind,
The truest friend, beyond all fate, one of a kind.

Verse 2

Each single minute we embraced, a treasure in my mind,
Even your farts, though quickly chased, were memories intertwined.
Your silly face, your loving grin, a spirit wild and free,
A heart of gold, from deep within, always beside me.

Chorus

Oh, Diesel, my sweet Diesel, sixteen wonderful years flew by,
You filled our lives with sunbeams, a twinkle in your eye.
Though tears may fall, we'll celebrate the joy you left behind,
The truest friend, beyond all fate, one of a kind.

Bridge

Now whispered on the morning breeze, a final, tender plea,
"Run free, mummies turkey face," across the grassy lea.
No pain can hold you anymore, just endless sky above,

Forever loved, forever pure, held in our endless love.

Instrumental - banjo, drums

Final Chorus

Oh, Diesel, my sweet Diesel, sixteen wonderful years flew by,
You filled our lives with sunbeams, a twinkle in your eye.
Though tears may fall, we'll celebrate the joy you left behind,
The truest friend, beyond all fate, one of a kind.

Outro

Now running free with Foxy, his partner, side-by-side,
Splashing in his endless pool, with nothing left to hide.
A happy boy, forever bright, in sun-drenched fields he roams,
Bathed in warmth and golden light, forever calls it home.

Outro - guitar fade

Forever in our hearts
