Casper's Gentle Gaze

A Tribute Song

Intro - piano, cello

Verse 1

The day we met, a tiny friend, a quiet joy began,
Your soft fur touched, my heart would mend, held gently in my hand.
Your beautiful expressive eyes, a world of love they'd show,
A faithful spirit, soft and wise, a gentle, tender glow.
You sat so close, a constant grace, a comfort ever near,
A peaceful presence in this place, banishing all fear.

Chorus

Oh, Casper, my dear, my sweet, sweet boy,
For fifteen years, you brought such joy.
A love so pure, a constant grace,
No one can ever fill your place.

Verse 2

Through darkest days, you stayed so near, a comfort in my bed,
You chased away my every fear, with gentle, quiet tread.
In lonely parking lots we'd roam, a silent, loving guide,
You made my weary heart a home, always by my side.
Your little snores, a cozy sound, a solace soft and deep,
The greatest friend I ever found, secrets for you to keep.

Chorus

Oh, Casper, my dear, my sweet, sweet boy,
For fifteen years, you brought such joy.
A love so pure, a constant grace,
No one can ever fill your place.

You were the best gift I ever got, a blessing from above,
A precious soul, a sacred spot, built purely out of love.
My sweet companion, always dear, a joy my spirit knew,
Through every single passing year, my heart belongs to you.

Instrumental - cello, piano

Final Chorus

Oh, Casper, my dear, my sweet, sweet boy,
For fifteen years, you brought such joy.
A love so pure, a constant grace,
No one can ever fill your place.

Outro

Now in the sun, you rest and play, upon a soft, warm bed,
Until we meet again someday, sweet memories ahead.
