Bullet's Golden Sun

A Tribute Song

Intro - piano, cello

Verse 1

A tiny nose, it poked around, exploring every sight and sound.
Then came that dance, a joyful sway, to brighten every single day.
Your silly wiggle, soft and sweet, a rhythm moving through your feet.
My handsome boy, so full of grace, a loving smile upon your face.

Chorus

Oh, Bullet, my sweet Bullet dear, for seven cherished, precious years.
You filled my world with tender light, a star that shone so pure and bright.
My BulleyWooley, brave and true, a love like ours will see me through.

Verse 2

The day would wind, the sun would fade, a happy memory softly made.
After dinner, soft and still, you'd rest beside me on the sill.
A quiet moment, close and deep, while gentle promises we'd keep.
Your gentle presence, calm and mild, my sweet and loving, perfect child.

Chorus

Oh, Bullet, my sweet Bullet dear, for seven cherished, precious years.
You filled my world with tender light, a star that shone so pure and bright.
My BulleyWooley, brave and true, a love like ours will see me through.

Bridge

Go find your Pops, and Meatball too, they'll be so happy to see you.
You'll always be my BulleyWooley, dear, my squiggle-wiggle boy, please hear.
Mommy will see your face again, one day, until that moment, rest and play.

Instrumental - piano, cello, glockenspiel

Final Chorus

Oh, Bullet, my sweet Bullet dear, for seven cherished, precious years.
You filled my world with tender light, a star that shone so pure and bright.
My BulleyWooley, brave and true, a love like ours will see me through.

Outro

Now chasing squirrels, free from pain, beneath the sun, through gentle rain.
Eating treats and lounging long, where you belong, in happy song.
Resting soft in golden light, sleeping through the endless night.
My sweet boy, free and bright.

Outro - piano fade
