Holly's Gentle Echo

A Tribute Song

Intro - piano, acoustic guitar

Verse 1

The quiet house, a brand new start,
You found your way into my heart.
A tiny bark, a joyful sound,
The sweetest girl I'd ever found.
A Shepherd's eyes, so watchful, keen,
The best companion I had seen.
With every wag, a promise made,
A loving bond that would not fade.

Chorus

Oh, Holly, sweet girl, twelve years we shared,
A love so pure, beyond compared.
Though tears may fall, my heart holds true,
For every memory I have of you.

Verse 2

That special dance when Daddy came home,
You'd wait for him, no need to roam.
A happy bark, a playful leap,
Secrets of joy, our hearts would keep.
Your gentle nudge, a loving plea,
Always right there, close to me.
A cozy spot beside the fire,
Fulfilling every heart's desire.

Chorus

Oh, Holly, sweet girl, twelve years we shared,
A love so pure, beyond compared.

Though tears may fall, my heart holds true,
For every memory I have of you.

Bridge

When twilight fell, and solace sought,
The hardest lesson, gently taught.
"Already did," a whisper low and deep,
"No more pain, my baby girl," now you can sleep.

Instrumental - piano, cello

Final Chorus

Oh, Holly, sweet girl, twelve years we shared,
A love so pure, beyond compared.
Though tears may fall, my heart holds true,
For every memory I have of you.

Outro

Now running free, a joyful bark,
A shining spirit in the dark.
Resting softly, free from care,
Your gentle presence everywhere.

Outro - piano fade

Forever in our hearts
