Lucky's Night Light

A Tribute Song

Intro - piano, acoustic guitar

Verse 1

A little black shadow, so soft and so deep,
A loving companion, while I was asleep.
You curled by my side, through the quietest hours,
My sweet kitty guardian, with comforting powers.
Each night a warm presence, a gentle soft sigh,
A whisper of purrs as the long day went by.
A bond formed in silence, a love ever true,
My heart always beating, close by with you.

Chorus

Oh, Lucky, my Lucky, my soft midnight star,
Ten beautiful years, no matter how far.
Your memory's a lullaby, calming and deep,
A love that forever my soul will keep.

Verse 2

When twilight would settle, a ritual so dear,
"Are you ready for night night?" I'd whisper, you'd hear.
Your little paws tapping, a blur down the hall,
Ready for snuggles, obeying the call.
Into the blankets, you'd gracefully leap,
Our sacred soft moment, secrets to keep.
A quiet communion, just you and just me,
The sweetest of endings, wild and so free.

Chorus

Oh, Lucky, my Lucky, my soft midnight star,
Ten beautiful years, no matter how far.

Lucky's Night Light (continued)

Your memory's a lullaby, calming and deep,
A love that forever my soul will keep.

Bridge

I love you so much, my pretty girl bright,
A whisper remembered, in the pale moonlight.
Though pain found your body, your spirit flies free,
A part of my heart, you'll always be.

Instrumental - cello, piano

Final Chorus

Oh, Lucky, my Lucky, my soft midnight star,
Ten beautiful years, no matter how far.
Your memory's a lullaby, calming and deep,
A love that forever my soul will keep.

Outro - piano fade

Now running so freely, no sorrow, no pain,
At Rainbow Bridge waiting, till we meet again.
My sweet Lucky sleeping, beneath skies of gold,
A story of pure love, forever untold.

Forever in our hearts
