Tucker's Golden Light

A Tribute Song

Intro - acoustic guitar, harmonica

Verse 1

I recall the thump of your tail, a morning sweet sound
A happy greeting as you woke and bounced around
That little stomp you'd do, waiting by the lake
For every joyous splash that you were bound to make
Your velvet soft ears, a comfort in my hand
The warmest yellow coat, best friend in all the land
A Labrador's pure heart, so loyal and so true
My world was brighter, Tucker, just because of you.

Chorus

Oh, Tucker, my sweet boy, thirteen years we knew
A golden light you cast, in everything you'd do
Now you're running free, a spirit wild and bold
A story in my heart, more precious than pure gold.

Verse 2

Those late afternoons, a ball tossed to the sky
You'd bring it back with joy, beneath my loving eye
No bunny could escape your watchful, playful bark
A chase through sunlit fields, leaving its happy mark
You loved the water, friend, a natural, fearless leap
Promises of joy, your happy heart would keep
Every memory shines, a moment clear and bright
You filled our quiet home with laughter and with light.

Chorus

Oh, Tucker, my sweet boy, thirteen years we knew
A golden light you cast, in everything you'd do

Tucker's Golden Light (continued)

Now you're running free, a spirit wild and bold
A story in my heart, more precious than pure gold.

Verse 3

You were my soul dog, gentle, kind, and true
My heart found solace, always safe with you
That perfect 'lab lean', a comfort close to mine
Lost in your brown eyes, a love so pure, divine
A friend to every soul, you met along the way
Brightening up their world, each and every day
Brave to the very last, you faced it without fear
Your spirit shining bright, though you are no longer here.

Bridge

With tears in my eyes, a final whisper I sent
"Run fast, jump big, have fun! I love you Tuckie!" heaven-sent
My love will follow you, wherever you may roam
You'll always have a place, right here within my home.

Harmonica solo

Final Chorus

Oh, Tucker, my sweet boy, thirteen years we knew
A golden light you cast, in everything you'd do
Now you're running free, a spirit wild and bold
A story in my heart, more precious than pure gold.

Outro - guitar fade

Now you're running through the woods, a leap off the dock so grand
Chasing your ball forever, across a golden land
Peaceful slumber now, after all your joyful play
In every sunbeam, Tucker, you'll be with me everyday.

Forever in our hearts
