Candy's Sweetest Sleep

A Tribute Song

Intro - ukulele, piano

Verse 1

With floppy ears so soft and low,
My little bunny, watched you grow.
You'd jump right up upon my bed,
For gentle rubs upon your head.
Then circling softly 'round my feet,
A greeting joyful, oh so sweet.
A quiet presence, pure and true,
My gentle friend, I cherished you.

Chorus

Candy, my sweet girl, for five precious years,
You chased away my every fear.
A tiny dancer, light and free,
The dearest gift you were to me.

Verse 2

When day was done and I'd return,
A lesson in pure love to learn.
You'd hop right up with joyful bound,
No sweeter welcome could be found.
A little nose-kiss, soft and quick,
A special magic, a loving trick.
Your gentle spirit, kind and bright,
Filled every moment with pure light.

Chorus

Candy, my sweet girl, for five precious years,
You chased away my every fear.

Candy's Sweetest Sleep (continued)

A tiny dancer, light and free,
The dearest gift you were to me.

Verse 3

The softest rustle, sweet and low,
The silent comfort you would show.
A twitching nose, a hopeful gaze,
Illuminating all my days.
No grand request, no noisy plea,
Just pure contentment, shared with me.
My little shadow, ever near,
You banished every doubt and fear.

Bridge

Though tears may fall, my heart holds tight,
To every memory, shining bright.
You whispered softly, clear and deep,
"I love you," promises to keep.
"We'll meet again at The Bridge, my dear,"
And banish every lingering fear.

Instrumental - piano, chimes

Final Chorus

Candy, my sweet girl, for five precious years,
You chased away my every fear.
A tiny dancer, light and free,
The dearest gift you were to me.

Outro

Now in your dreams, you softly sigh,
Making cute honking noises as time goes by.
Sleeping deeply, peaceful, still,
My little Candy, always will.

Outro - ukulele fade
