Booties' Gentle Gaze

A Tribute Song

Intro - acoustic guitar, piano

Verse 1

That day I helped bring pups along, a moment unforeseen,
Out of six small, furry lives, one look, a quiet scene.
You moved to meet me in the crate, with eyes so bright and true,
"She's adopted you!" my friend declared, and so began anew.
A Collie's wisdom, Shepherd's grace, shone in your hopeful stare,
A special bond began right then, a love beyond compare.
While others found their homes that day, my heart knew what was right,
You chose me with your gentle gaze, a beacon in the light.

Chorus

Oh, Booties, sweet Booties, our dear friend so true,
Twelve years of pure joy, all because of you.
A paw print on my heart, a love that will not fade,
The dearest memories we together made.

Verse 2

Our quiet times meant everything, on every gentle walk,
With your dear brother by our side, beneath the whispered talk.
Through fields of green and wooded trails, your spirit ever bright,
You'd sniff and explore with joyful ease, bathed in the morning light.
No matter where our path would lead, or what the day would bring,
Your presence made each moment sing, a precious, happy thing.

Chorus

Oh, Booties, sweet Booties, our dear friend so true,
Twelve years of pure joy, all because of you.
A paw print on my heart, a love that will not fade,
The dearest memories we together made.

Booties' Gentle Gaze (continued)

Bridge

Now chase all the squirrels you want, with freedom in your stride,
You're on my mind with all the others, deep inside.
No worries now, no heavy sighs, just endless, happy play,
My cherished one, I'll miss you, more and more each day.

Instrumental - flute, strings

Final Chorus

Oh, Booties, sweet Booties, our dear friend so true,
Twelve years of pure joy, all because of you.
A paw print on my heart, a love that will not fade,
The dearest memories we together made.

Outro - guitar fade

Now running free with brand new friends, across the Rainbow Bridge,
Happy and bright, no earthly pain, beyond the final ridge.
No need to fret or look back now, my sweet and precious girl,
Just peace and joy, in your own perfect world.

Forever in our hearts
