Maggie's Golden Heart

A Tribute Song

Intro - acoustic guitar, harmonica

Verse 1

The day you came, a light so bright,
A happy sweet gentle soul in sight.
Your golden fur, a comforting gleam,
Living out a loving dream.
With loyal eyes and a wagging tail,
You'd greet the world without fail.
A spirit pure, a heart so kind,
The best of friends, we were entwined.

Chorus

Oh, Maggie, my dear, it's true,
Twelve golden years I spent with you.
You taught my heart what love could be,
A perfect joy, forever free.

Verse 2

Each morning dawn, your gentle yawn,
Those morning stretches, lasting long.
And when the day began to cease,
We'd find our calm in evening peace.
With cuddles warm, a soft embrace,
You filled our home with endless grace.
A quiet joy, a simple art,
You held a special place in my heart.

Chorus

Oh, Maggie, my dear, it's true,
Twelve golden years I spent with you.

Maggie's Golden Heart (continued)

You taught my heart what love could be,
A perfect joy, forever free.

Bridge

My perfect girl, soft and sweet,
Our bond was strong, our lives complete.
I'll love you to the end of my years,
Through silent moments, through happy tears.

Harmonica Solo

Final Chorus

Oh, Maggie, my dear, it's true,
Twelve golden years I spent with you.
You taught my heart what love could be,
A perfect joy, forever free.

Outro

Now running free, across the skies,
A playful spirit, in my mind's eyes.
Sleeping softly, without a sound,
Your love forever surrounds.

Outro - acoustic guitar fade
