Alvin's Angel Calm

A Tribute Song

Intro - piano, cello

Verse 1

A flash of white, a touch of caramel bright,
Blue eyes held wisdom, a calming, gentle light.
A feline form, but a human soul I'd find,
A legacy of love, left all the world behind.
With courage, loyalty, and patience, you'd teach,
An angel's calm spirit, always within reach.

Chorus

Oh, Alvin, my dear, through all the changing years,
Fifteen wonderful years, chasing away all fears.
A bond forged in heaven, a love so pure and deep,
Your memory forever, in my heart I'll keep.

Verse 2

Face to face we'd slumber, a love so deeply tied,
Cuddled close between my legs, always by my side.
Guarding my sweet sleep, a silent, watchful grace,
A father and son bonding, in every time and place.
Wherever I would be, you'd follow close behind,
The truest, purest friendship, a treasure I could find.

Chorus

Oh, Alvin, my dear, through all the changing years,
Fifteen wonderful years, chasing away all fears.
A bond forged in heaven, a love so pure and deep,
Your memory forever, in my heart I'll keep.

Verse 3

Alvin's Angel Calm (continued)

He watched our home with care, a guardian so true,
And sounded the alarm, when danger came anew.
With tender eyes he spoke, a language understood,
Caressing every soul, with love so pure and good.
A light of love you were, an eternal, guiding gleam,
You made our spirits better, a soulful, loving dream.

Bridge

I love you, my sweet boy, God bless your spirit free,
You are His creation, forever etched in me.
Never will I forget you, this truth I hold so dear,
For you live in my heart, banishing every fear.

Instrumental - piano, violin

Final Chorus

Oh, Alvin, my dear, through all the changing years,
Fifteen wonderful years, chasing away all fears.
A bond forged in heaven, a love so pure and deep,
Your memory forever, in my heart I'll keep.

Outro - piano fade

Now running free and light, beneath the golden sun,
With birds and butterflies, your paradise begun.
No harm will ever touch them, they're truly all your friends,
Sleeping peacefully, as your sweet journey transcends.

Forever in our hearts
