Bentley's Tall Grass

A Tribute Song

Intro - piano, strings

Verse 1

The day you came, a sweet young boy so small,
With gentle eyes, you answered every call.
A loving heart, so pure and ever true,
Always ready for a walk with me and you.
When the leash appeared, your tail began to sway,
A happy promise for a brand new day.
A loyal friend, a spirit bright and free,
The sweetest Cavachon, for all the world to see.

Chorus

Oh, Bentley, our dear boy, through sunshine and through rain,
Thirteen and a half years, easing every pain.
A love like yours, a bond that won't give way,
We carry you inside us, every single day.

Verse 2

When afternoon arrived, the light began to gleam,
You'd ask for kisses, living out your dream.
Ready for our playtime, with a happy, eager bark,
A precious moment leaving its sweet mark.
Your little nudges, asking for a treat,
Made every day complete, so bittersweet.
Your playful spirit, bright and full of grace,
Always lighting up our sacred space.

Chorus

Oh, Bentley, our dear boy, through sunshine and through rain,
Thirteen and a half years, easing every pain.

Bentley's Tall Grass (continued)

A love like yours, a bond that won't give way,
We carry you inside us, every single day.

Bridge

Run free, baby boy, with spirit strong and bold,
A story whispered, more precious than pure gold.
Stay strong, my love, until we meet again,
Beyond the sorrow, past all worldly pain.

Instrumental - strings, oboe

Final Chorus

Oh, Bentley, our dear boy, through sunshine and through rain,
Thirteen and a half years, easing every pain.
A love like yours, a bond that won't give way,
We carry you inside us, every single day.

Outro

Now you're running free, in fields of endless green,
Through tall, soft grass, the happiest you've been.
With endless treats, beneath a golden sun,
Your peaceful journey, forever truly won.

Outro - strings fade
