Jax's Golden Sun

A Tribute Song

Intro - soft piano, acoustic guitar

Verse 1

When you first came, a tiny, sassy spark,
You chased the shadows, left your paw print mark.
To get your way, you'd stand up tall and grand,
With little paws just waving in your hand.

Chorus

Oh, Jax, my sweet boy, a love so true,
Three precious years, shared just with you.
My heart still aches, a tender, gentle pain,
Until we meet again, in sun or rain.

Verse 2

The quiet evenings, a cozy, soft embrace,
Your warm fur close, in our familiar space.
Those night time cuddles, soft against my cheek,
The sweetest secrets that my heart could speak.

Chorus

Oh, Jax, my sweet boy, a love so true,
Three precious years, shared just with you.
My heart still aches, a tender, gentle pain,
Until we meet again, in sun or rain.

Verse 3

Now when the sunbeams fill the quiet room,
They chase away the lingering, gentle gloom.
I see you there, in every golden ray,

Bringing your warmth to brighten up my day.

Chorus

Oh, Jax, my sweet boy, a love so true,
Three precious years, shared just with you.
My heart still aches, a tender, gentle pain,
Until we meet again, in sun or rain.

Bridge

You were the best, a comfort and a light,
You filled my days and chased away the night.
I whisper now, across the silent air,
I'll see you again, waiting for me there.

Instrumental - piano, synth pads

Final Chorus

Oh, Jax, my sweet boy, a love so true,
Three precious years, shared just with you.
My heart still aches, a tender, gentle pain,
Until we meet again, in sun or rain.

Outro

Now in the sun, you find your gentle rest,
Among the flowers, peaceful and so blessed.
My memories bloom, a love that won't depart,
Forever sleeping, deep within my heart.

Outro - piano fade
