Willow's Soulful Eyes

A Tribute Song

Intro - piano, harp

Verse 1

I remember your little bark, a soft, sweet morning sound,
Your soulful, watchful eyes, the kindest ever found.
You were constantly beside us, a shadow ever near,
Whispering comfort, calming every single fear.
A tiny rumble, a gentle sigh upon our knee,
Just knowing you were present, brought such peace to me.
Our small companion, sturdy and so dear,
Making every moment brighter, through each passing year.

Chorus

Oh, sweet Willow, our beloved, precious friend,
For eight and a half years, our hearts did truly blend.
A loyal Frenchie, a pure gift from above,
Our lives forever changed by your unending love.
Though tears may fall, our memories shine so bright,
You'll always be our guiding, gentle light.

Verse 2

The happy dance you'd do, when we walked through the door,
Filled every corner with joy we couldn't ignore.
And after dinner, nestled close upon the lounge,
The coziest, safest haven in the whole wide town.
Your little snuffles, a comfort in the quiet air,
A silent promise, showing how much you care.
Every day with you, a memory we hold so tight,
A story of devotion, shining ever bright.

Chorus

Willow's Soulful Eyes (continued)

Oh, sweet Willow, our beloved, precious friend,
For eight and a half years, our hearts did truly blend.
A loyal Frenchie, a pure gift from above,
Our lives forever changed by your unending love.
Though tears may fall, our memories shine so bright,
You'll always be our guiding, gentle light.

Bridge

Now you can bite as many ankles as you like,
And find any crumbs on the floor, in pure delight.
Free from all burdens, no more pain to ever bear,
Just endless joy and freedom, floating in the air.
We know you're running, light and swift and sound,
On hallowed, peaceful, happy ground.

Instrumental - strings, piano

Final Chorus

Oh, sweet Willow, our beloved, precious friend,
For eight and a half years, our hearts did truly blend.
A loyal Frenchie, a pure gift from above,
Our lives forever changed by your unending love.
Though tears may fall, our memories shine so bright,
You'll always be our guiding, gentle light.

Outro

You're breathing freely, peaceful and at ease,
Carried on the gentle, whispering breeze.
Knowing we loved you, your whole life, safe and profound,
Now rest in peace, on hallowed, tranquil ground.

Forever in our hearts
