Chloe's Happy Run

A Tribute Song

Intro - acoustic guitar, banjo

Verse 1

A tiny shadow with a giant heart,
From the very start, you played a special part.
I recall your fifth birthday, a joyful scene,
Tearing gifts open, the happiest I'd seen.
With tiny paws, you found pure delight,
My sweet little Yorkie, shining ever bright.

Chorus

Oh, Chloe, my dear, it's been seventeen wonderful years,
Through laughter and joy, and sometimes, quiet tears.
Every memory held close, a treasure I keep,
In my heart, your love I will always keep.

Verse 2

Each day at five, by the window you'd wait,
A furry guard, anticipating my gate.
When my car pulled in, you'd stand tall and proud,
Greeting your mommy, so joyful and loud.
Then night came for cuddles, so sweet and so deep,
Resting gently upon my head as I'd sleep.

Chorus

Oh, Chloe, my dear, it's been seventeen wonderful years,
Through laughter and joy, and sometimes, quiet tears.
Every memory held close, a treasure I keep,
In my heart, your love I will always keep.

Mommy loves you so much, a truth that will last,
We'll be together again, when moments have passed.
So run and play now, my sweet baby girl, live free,
No pain can touch you, across land and sea.

Instrumental - banjo, electric guitar

Final Chorus

Oh, Chloe, my dear, it's been seventeen wonderful years,
Through laughter and joy, and sometimes, quiet tears.
Every memory held close, a treasure I keep,
In my heart, your love I will always keep.

Outro

Now you run free, with no pain in your stride,
You can see, you can hear, with nothing to hide.
On green grass you're playing, catching frisbee and ball,
Looking down, saying "Mommy, I still love you all."

Outro - guitar fade
