Intro - piano, cello

Verse 1

The sound of tiny claws on hardwood floors,
A gentle rhythm, soft and light and low,
Then nestled close, your purr, behind closed doors,
My little tortie, helping spirits grow.

Chorus

Oh Missy, my sweet girl, for twenty years so bright,
You filled my world with warmth, and gentle, guiding light.
Though shadows fall, and tears may softly stream,
You live forever in my heart, a cherished, peaceful dream.

Verse 2

Each day you'd greet me with a talkative meow,
A happy welcome at the close of day,
Then on my neck, you'd softly slumber now,
And purr your secrets, chasing fears away.

Chorus

Oh Missy, my sweet girl, for twenty years so bright,
You filled my world with warmth, and gentle, guiding light.
Though shadows fall, and tears may softly stream,
You live forever in my heart, a cherished, peaceful dream.

Verse 3

I miss your gentle weight upon my chest,
The warmth you brought through every peaceful night,
Now in my quiet thoughts, you come to rest,
A memory glowing, ever soft and bright.

Bridge

My love, my girl, please wait for me, I pray,
Remember all the love and bond we share,
Visit me sometimes, at the close of day,
Until I hold you, free from every care.

Instrumental - piano, synth pad

Final Chorus

Oh Missy, my sweet girl, for twenty years so bright,
You filled my world with warmth, and gentle, guiding light.
Though shadows fall, and tears may softly stream,
You live forever in my heart, a cherished, peaceful dream.

Outro

Now running free, with youth returned anew,
Asleep on daisies, under skies so blue.
No pain, just peace, a whisper in the breeze,
Forever resting, with eternal ease.

Outro - cello fade
