Bailey's Golden Splash

A Tribute Song

Intro - ukulele, glockenspiel

Verse 1

The quiet of the night would gently break
As Mommy, Lisa, you would always wake.
For midnight potty breaks, a special time,
With apple juice and treats, so sweet and prime.
A little bite for Wrig, still fast asleep,
Then back to bed, a promise you would keep.
You'd snuggle close, a warm and furry friend,
Until the morning light began to send.

Chorus

Oh Bailey, our sweet girl, almost nine years of glee,
Your golden heart, a joy for all to see.
From stolen towels to barks at the door,
We couldn't ask for anything more.
Our princess angel, shining bright and true,
A love as vast as skies of summer blue.

Verse 2

The garage door would creak, a familiar sound,
And you'd be barking, waiting to be found.
Our car would pull in, you knew the very beat,
A happy dance, from wagging head to feet.
The "loop" we called the pool, your favorite place,
With treasured toys, a smile upon your face.
You welcomed all who stepped inside our home,
No matter near or far, they'd never roam.

Chorus

Bailey's Golden Splash (continued)

Oh Bailey, our sweet girl, almost nine years of glee,
Your golden heart, a joy for all to see.
From stolen towels to barks at the door,
We couldn't ask for anything more.
Our princess angel, shining bright and true,
A love as vast as skies of summer blue.

Verse 3

We couldn't leave a towel, no napkin in sight,
You'd grab them quick, with mischievous delight.
A wagging tail, a strut, a playful chase,
So smart you were, to keep us in that place.
We'd try to catch you, laugh and call your name,
A joyful game, again and again, the same.
You'd watch us closely, with a knowing stare,
A golden challenge, beyond compare.

Bridge

We love you so, our perfect princess angel dear,
And know you'll wait for us, to calm all fear.
At heaven's gates, a promise you will hold,
A story of pure love, forever told.

Instrumental - acoustic guitar, ukulele

Final Chorus

Oh Bailey, our sweet girl, almost nine years of glee,
Your golden heart, a joy for all to see.
From stolen towels to barks at the door,
We couldn't ask for anything more.
Our princess angel, shining bright and true,
A love as vast as skies of summer blue.

Outro - ukulele fade

Now swimming free, in heaven's sparkling stream,
With cousin Ziggy, living out a dream.
And Granny's spoiling you with treats galore,
At peace and loved, forevermore.

Forever in our hearts
