Verse 1

A golden spirit, full of grace,
A loving heart in every space.
You swam and played with joyful glee,
A happy Goldendoodle, wild and free.
Long walks with you, a simple art,
You captured every single heart.
Unconditional love you'd always give,
The sweetest way for us to live.

Chorus

Oh, Abby, our beautiful, shining light,
For thirteen years, you made life bright.
Your love's a warmth that softly glows,
A gentle comfort that still flows.

Verse 2

Each day you'd wait, a happy sight,
With wagging tail, you'd bring your toy so bright.
So full of joy, a sweet embrace,
A happy greeting in your special place.
Your tender eyes, a gentle plea,
Just pure delight for all to see.
So beautiful, so soft, so sweet,
Our daily rhythm, so complete.

Abby's Golden Light (continued)

Chorus

Oh, Abby, our beautiful, shining light,
For thirteen years, you made life bright.
Your love's a warmth that softly glows,
A gentle comfort that still flows.

Verse 3

Your silent steps, a comforting sound,
The dearest friend we ever found.
A steady heartbeat, calm and low,
A precious bond that helped us grow.
With gentle gaze, you understood,
The quiet strength of all that's good.
Your loving soul, so soft and pure,
A cherished blessing to endure.

Bridge

I promised you no suffering would be,
And kept that vow for you and me.
The pain of loss, a heavy, silent art,
But Mommy loves you with all her heart.
So strong you were, with love so deep,
A memory I will always keep.

Instrumental - ukulele, cello

Final Chorus

Oh, Abby, our beautiful, shining light,
For thirteen years, you made life bright.
Your love's a warmth that softly glows,
A gentle comfort that still flows.

Outro

Now in the bluest waters, you softly glide,
With friends you lost, now by your side.
Through sunny grass, you freely roam,
Beaming with light, forever home.
