
Tony, Soul Tied

A Tribute Song

Genre: Ethereal Folk Lullaby

Mood: lullaby

Instrumentation: Fingerpicked acoustic guitar, soft piano, gentle cello, airy synths

Vocal style: Soft, soothing female vocals

Tempo: 60 BPM

Intro - acoustic guitar, piano

Verse 1

I still recall the day we met, a memory so clear
You curled onto my beating chest, banishing all fear
So tiny then, a little pup, too small for words to say
You filled my empty heart right up, and took my breath away
Your paws so soft, your fur so warm, a comfort from the start
You found your shelter from the storm, tucked deep inside my heart

Chorus

Oh, Tony, my dear, my sweet boy, you're always on my mind
Nine soul-tied years of pure joy, a love of the purest kind
Though sorrow may now softly fall, a shadow in the light
Your memory shines through it all, forever burning bright

Verse 2

When nights felt heavy, dark and long, and quiet tears would fall
Your presence made me feel so strong, you answered every call
You'd settle close, a silent grace, a warmth against my side
That peaceful look upon your face, with nowhere left to hide
You taught me comfort in the still, when words could not console
You helped my weary heart to heal, and made my spirit whole

Chorus

Oh, Tony, my dear, my sweet boy, you're always on my mind
Nine soul-tied years of pure joy, a love of the purest kind
Though sorrow may now softly fall, a shadow in the light
Your memory shines through it all, forever burning bright

Tony, Soul Tied (continued)

Verse 3

I miss the patter of your feet, a rhythm soft and low
The way you'd greet me, ever sweet, wherever I would go
Your trusting eyes, a gentle gaze, that spoke without a sound
Through all my ever-changing days, my steadfast friend you're found
A silent whisper in the air, a presence ever near
You taught my heart a love to bear, that banishes all fear

Chorus

Oh, Tony, my dear, my sweet boy, you're always on my mind
Nine soul-tied years of pure joy, a love of the purest kind
Though sorrow may now softly fall, a shadow in the light
Your memory shines through it all, forever burning bright

Bridge

We are soul tied, sweet boy, a truth that will remain
In every lifetime, you'll be my baby, through sunshine and through rain
A bond unbroken, strong and deep, across the endless years
The promises my heart will keep, to banish all the tears

Instrumental - piano, cello

Final Chorus

Oh, Tony, my dear, my sweet boy, you're always on my mind
Nine soul-tied years of pure joy, a love of the purest kind
Though sorrow may now softly fall, a shadow in the light
Your memory shines through it all, forever burning bright

Outro

Across the rainbow bridge you run, no sickness, no more pain
Beneath a golden, endless sun, through fields of daisies in the rain
Living your best life, wild and free, forever young and bright
My baby, waiting there for me, bathed in eternal light.

Outro - piano fade

Forever in our hearts