Little One's Morning Light

A Tribute Song

Intro - acoustic guitar, harmonica

Verse 1

From the moment you arrived, a loyal friend so true,
A tiny whine, a gentle sound, to let me know it's you.
You'd paw my face, a playful nudge, to start our day with glee,
And make it known to all the rest, your Daddy belonged to me.
You were my protector, small yet bold, with courage in your gaze,
Through years we walked, a story told, in countless joyful ways.

Chorus

Oh, Little One, my sweet Little One, my heart still holds your name,
Fourteen years beneath the sun, it wasn't just a game.
A love so deep, a bond so strong, forever etched in time,
Where you belong, you'll always be, my precious, loyal chime.

Verse 2

When day was done and shadows fell, you'd know just what to do,
Ready to nap, a quiet spell, just me and trusty you.
My tired head upon your fur, a comfort soft and deep,
The world outside could fade and blur, while secrets we would keep.
You taught me joy in simple things, a paw upon my chest,
The happiness a good dog brings, putting my soul at rest.

Chorus

Oh, Little One, my sweet Little One, my heart still holds your name,
Fourteen years beneath the sun, it wasn't just a game.
A love so deep, a bond so strong, forever etched in time,
Where you belong, you'll always be, my precious, loyal chime.

Verse 3

We'd hit the road, the engine hummed, your backpack safe and tight,
On my back, you'd never grumble, bathed in wind and light.
Then camping out, the fire glowed, a quiet, peaceful scene,

Little One's Morning Light (continued)

Your little paw, my heart would hold, my loyal forest queen.

Bridge

And as the sun begins to fade, a whisper in the air,
"Never forget Daddy always loves that Little Dog," beyond compare.
A promise spoken, soft and clear, through every passing day,
You're in my heart, my precious dear, you'll never fade away.

Guitar Solo - acoustic guitar

Final Chorus

Oh, Little One, my sweet Little One, my heart still holds your name,
Fourteen years beneath the sun, it wasn't just a game.
A love so deep, a bond so strong, forever etched in time,
Where you belong, you'll always be, my precious, loyal chime.

Outro

Now setting in the morning light, where peaceful dreams reside,
Soaking up the sun so bright, with nothing left to hide.
Rest easy now, my faithful friend, your journey's gentle close,
In sunlit warmth, without an end, where calm and comfort grows.

Outro - guitar fade

Forever in our hearts
