Running Free Under Summer Skies

A Tribute Song

Intro - acoustic guitar, harmonica

Verse 1

The day you came, a brand new start,
Black fur shining, straight to my heart.
Those big brown eyes, a soulful gaze,
Filled every single one of my days.
With happy cuddles and soft, sweet kisses,
You filled my life with joyful blisses.
My beautiful Labs, so pure and true,
There was nothing I wouldn't do for you.

Chorus

Oh, Lucky and Daisy Mae, my sweet pair,
Fourteen and ten years, beyond compare.
Through every season, sun and rain,
You chased away sorrow, eased every pain.
Now you're running free, light as the air,
A love story whispered, beyond all despair.

Verse 2

Our afternoons were filled with play,
Chasing your balls through every sunny day.
Splashing and laughing in your little pool,
Keeping yourselves wonderfully cool.
Your wagging tails, a joyful sight,
Filling our home with pure delight.
Every moment cherished, every trace,
Reflected in your loving face.

Chorus

Oh, Lucky and Daisy Mae, my sweet pair,
Fourteen and ten years, beyond compare.
Through every season, sun and rain,

You chased away sorrow, eased every pain.
Now you're running free, light as the air,
A love story whispered, beyond all despair.

Bridge

Mommy misses and loved you more than you will ever know,
A bond unbreakable, watch our sweet memories grow.
I will always talk to you everyday, it's true,
Until we meet again, my darling two.

Harmonica Solo

Final Chorus

Oh, Lucky and Daisy Mae, my sweet pair,
Fourteen and ten years, beyond compare.
Through every season, sun and rain,
You chased away sorrow, eased every pain.
Now you're running free, light as the air,
A love story whispered, beyond all despair.

Outro

Running and playing, light and free,
With Grampa and uncles, for all to see.
And Lucky's daddy, waiting there,
No more pain, just joy in the air.
Sleeping softly, or chasing a dream,
Under the sun's warm, endless gleam.

Outro - guitar fade
